From 15th to 21st February 2019 Stuttgart opens its door to Blockchain enthusiasts from Germany and beyond. Ten vibrating days of events will explore the future scenario of blockchain applications and discover how this technology might disrupt business transaction, identity management, banks, government and much more.

The Blockchain Stuttgart Week is an umbrella event powered by the main actors of the Blockchain scene in South-West Germany. Several Blockchain events have come together to create an explosive week of input and exchange towards the vision of making Stuttgart and Baden-Württemberg one of the leading global locations for blockchain technology.

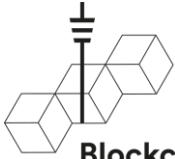

Several events will highlight the potential, risks and pitfall of Blockchain and will open up the discussion about the future scenarios for Blockchain. From conference to meetups, from industry events to hackathon, the Blockchain Stuttgart Week offers a format for everybody's needs and expertise.

Night happenings will build the bridge between all events and connect people and ideas.

From the heart of the automotive city where innovation has its home, the breeze of the Blockchain revolution starts to blow. Come and discover the potential of Blockchain technology in Stuttgart!
